Dear

You are being contacted due to a recent review of your account by the PartsTrader Compliance team. We have identified activity in your PartsTrader platform usage that falls outside the Terms of Service you acknowledged and accepted upon your initial use of the PartsTrader application.

Your non-compliant activity involves not placing Orders for at least 60% of your Quote Requests. For the month of [redacted] location has placed Orders for 10% of the [redacted] parts for which Quote Requests were made. Per the Terms of Service, specifically 'Section 13 – Quotes,' 'Section 14 – Orders,' 'Section 19 – No Manipulation of the Market,' and 'Section 20 – Good Faith Promotion of Arms-Length Transactions,' it is your obligation to use best efforts to place Orders for at least 60% of your Quote Requests. In addition, you are required to make best efforts to place Orders via the Site when Suppliers have provided conforming Quotes, not circumvent the intended purpose of the Site or the PartsTrader Application, and not withdraw a Request following the receipt of conforming Quotes and purchase the requested Products outside the PartsTrader Application without using a substantial portion of the functions of the PartsTrader Application.

In addition, per 'Section 22 – Remedies for Breach by Participants,' if a breach of the Terms of Service occurs, PartsTrader, at its sole discretion, may issue a warning to the User, suspend the User's access to the Site, or terminate the User's participation.

Due to this non-compliant activity, we will be placing your Parts Trader account on WARNING status as of [redacted]. If through the end of [redacted] a material change in behavior is not evidenced, the status will change to SUSPENDED for 5 business days. After serving the 5 business day suspension you will have through the end of [redacted] to evidence a change in usage behavior.

We will follow up with a phone call to discuss this process and any questions you may have. You can also email compliance@partstrader.us.com or call 844-683-8220 if you have any additional concerns or questions in the future.

Sincerely,
PartsTrader Compliance
